2024 Asian Peri-operative Nursing Academic Conference and Leadership Forum

Conference Announcement

No. [2024]57

The development of our country's healthcare industry will face new situations, new problems, and new challenges. Nursing is an important part of our country's healthcare industry. It is closely related to the health interests, and life wellness and safety of the people and is of great significance to the success of building a moderately prosperous society. In the journey to achieve 'Healthy China', implementing the spirit of the documents of the General Office of the State Council and vigorously promoting day surgery are important efficiency indicators in hospital performance evaluation. Day surgery nursing will focus on the new pattern and new opportunities faced by nursing development, actively explore new management concepts, new nursing models, new clinical paths, and new service experiences, and promote the development of day surgery nursing in China into a new era. The Chinese Nursing Association builds a high-level academic platform for day surgery nursing, shares new theories, new methods, new results, and new information on day surgery nursing, encourages academic exchanges, and forms an international and domestic joint exploration of the development of day surgery nursing.

In recent years, peri-operative care has developed rapidly in the Asia-Pacific region. We will hold the 2024 Asian Peri-operative Nursing Academic Conference and Leadership Forum at the same time. The conference will promote the integration of day surgery nursing in China with international standards and enhance the development of the professional level of day surgery nursing. Well-known experts at home and abroad will be invited to give keynote speeches across professional fields and discussions on hot topics. Nursing colleagues at home and abroad are welcome to attend the conference.
